

How to Recycle Old Crayons Into New!

Don't know what to do with your broken crayons?
Turn them into news ones with fun shapes and colors.

What You'll Need:

- Crayons
- Silicon molds
- X-acto knife
- Baking sheet

How To Make

Step one: Set the oven to 200 degrees

Step two: Peel off the crayon wrappers – you may need an X-acto blade to cut a line down the paper of the crayon for easy ripping

Step three: Snap crayons into small pieces

Step four: Lay crayon pieces into the molds – Don't worry if the crayons don't lay flat, they will smooth once they melt!

Step five: Place molds on a baking sheet and bake for 10-15 minutes

Step six: Remove molds from the oven and transfer them to the freezer. Crayons will be cool and ready to use in 30 minutes or less
